Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Gallagher Convention Centre takes the growing concern pertaining to the Coronavirus very seriously.

The South African Department of Health continues to monitor developments regarding the Coronavirus very closely, in line with their approach, Gallagher Convention Centre takes our lead from the information provided by the World Health Organisation.

The WHO encourages good hygiene and food safety. At Gallagher Convention Centre guests can be reassured that the highest hygiene standards are maintained as the facilities are cleaned at regular intervals during the day. Cleaning staff stationed in the restrooms to continuously clean the area during events. The restrooms have hand soap dispensers for guests to regularly wash their hands as suggested by the WHO.

Our kitchens proudly maintain impeccable, certified food safety standards further offering guests the necessary peace of mind.

In addition, Gallagher Convention Centre maintains an on-site emergency medical centre to assist guests who are in need of medical assistance.

Gallagher Convention Centre is committed to maintaining a healthy environment for guests by taking reasonable precautions set out by the WHO.
